I had a staff-student football game at noon. Max drove me home. I found Cheryl and the boys playing in the living room. Prior to that, Peter was riding his bike with Danielle, Kirsten and Patsy.

We ate at 6. Cheryl's dad came over and kicked the ball back and forth with Peter, while Matthew stood in the middle to block it, then carry it to Peter. When Peter had worked up a sweat, he lay by Papa's chair and puffed.

Peter had a long bath while Cheryl put Matthew to bed and marked exams, and I practised guitar and marked stories.
